

My Religious Experience

My religious life experience thus far, has been an interesting one. Though there are moments of ups and downs that went with it, but still an interesting and beautiful life to live and witness to the Gospel. Back home in my country, I was happy doing my assigned apostolate, then I left for my nursing training in 2007 - 2010. I worked for 1 year as a nurse back home before coming to Canada in 2012.

My experience here in Canada has been an interesting one too, though with the challenging weather especially the winter which is very cold. I enjoy my apostolate here in Winnipeg working in the before/after school program with little children. They keep me busy and I learn a lot from them as they explore with their little young innocent minds. I see God in them and I listen to God with them.

I also enjoy my Communion ministering volunteer work that I do at St. Boniface Hospital where I give Holy Communion to the sick and minister to them. I bring Christ to the sick and dying, share in their pains and sufferings and offering them hope, courage and Christ's love.
